Elaborate Series of Tests Held Under Government Auspices.

The total damage to eggs transported in carload lots was reduced to less than ; per cent. In tests conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture, covering a period of more than two years, and in which the eggs were shipped on an average of 1,200 miles. The amount of damage sustained in marketing eggs in carload shipments, according to various reliable authorities, averaged from 3 to 9 per cent. By following good, commercially practicable methods of packing, storing and hauling eggs can be transported in carload lots with a total damage, including "checks," dents" and "leakers," of less than 2 per cent, according to Bulletin No. 664 isgued by the Department, which discusses the experiments and best methods of transporting eggs from the producer to the consumer.

In order to reduce egg losses to the minimum, according to the bulletin, they should be packed in new standard cases symmetrically made with five, or preferably six, threepenny cement coated nails at each corner of the sides and minimum, according to the bulletin, they should be packed in new standard cases symmetrically made with five, or preferably six, threepenny cement coated nails at each corner of the sides and bottom and at the centre partition. Cases made of cottonwood have on the whole the greater number of advan-tages. Medium fillers (three pounds three ounces) or heavier should be used. It is absolutely necessary also that the filler be perfectly new. Even a slort haul shipment into the packing house should disqualify the filler for further use Suitable cushions of excelsion should be placed on the top and bettom of the case. Corrugated board on the top of the case affords practically on the top of the case affords practically the same protection as the excelsion cushion, provided it takes up the slack. The load of eggs must be a solid unit in the car, fitting without play. This, according to the bulletin, is the most important factor in avoiding damage in transit. The amount of damage in properly loaded cars buffed with straw is slightly less than in the same cars buffed with wood. In placing the buffing care should be taken not to permit it to preshould be taken not to permit it to pre-vent circulation of air, which is es-

Woman Observer Will Attempt to Measure Corona's Light. CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 1 .- Miss Annie J. Cannon of the Harvard College observatory left here to-day for Denver, Col., where she will attempt to determine the heretofore unmeasured light of the solar corona during a total ecliose. The observation will be made in Denver late on the afternoon of June Miss Cannon carried with her s

special apparatus devised by Prof. E. S. King of the Harvard observatory and called the corona photometer. Miss Cannon's work will be carried on at the Chamberlain observatory in Denyer, which will be the rendezvous of other astronomers on June 8. The total eclipse will extend across the country in a band about 100 miles wide. As the totality of the eclipse at Denver will last only ninety seconds Miss Cannon will set up her apparatus two days ahead. For timing the exposure she will use a metronome, such as employed by music teachers.

LONG BRANCH IS MORE THAN A SEASHORE RESORT. It combines the pleasures of beach and surf with the delights of picturesque river. dainty lakes and sylvan beauties. Situated on a coast plateau, the highest point of land along the entire Atlantic Seabard, extending along the cocan or six miles and inland two miles, it offers a choice of multiplicity of types of the combined of the co environment in its various sections, which include Elberon, West End, Holly-wood, North Long Branch, Branchpert and Pleasure Bay.

IT IS BOTH COUNTRY AND CITY for here are found not only the attractions of country—trees, lawns, hedges and freedom from crowding—but also all urban conveniences that make for comfort and health. The result is the most healthful place in Jersey, with the lowest death rate.

THERE ARE FACILITIES FOR ALL SPORTS and amusements, including yachting, boating, bathing, fishing, crabbing, tennis, polo, baseball and goff. Then there are the city's fine drives—120 miles of them here and an equal milesge radiating through the contiguous country—all in a territory embellished with six PRESIDENTS MAYER SIMMENT.

radiating through the contiguous country—all in a territory embedded the highest skill of landscape gardening.

SIX PRESIDENTS HAVE NUMBERED AT THIS DELIGHTFUL RESORT. With the whole country to choose from, not half as many have chosen any other place. THE NEAREST POINT ON THE JERSEY SHORE TO NEW YORK and the great metropolitan area by express trains—Long Branch is only slightly over an hour distant by the P. R. R. and Jersey Central. There are some 100 New York trains a day in summer, not to mention the Sandy Hook Bay and the River Steamers. Commuting is easy and pleasant the year around, and the rates as low as 35 cents a round trip.
